Date: 1 September 2016

Lovers of antiques and collectables will be captivated by the stylish wares at this year's Antiques for Everyone Winter Fair, 1-4 December 2016

Antiques For Everyone, the UK's largest vetted antiques & interiors fair outside London, is to stage it's Winter Fair at the NEC in Birmingham from 1-4 December 2016.

At the Winter Fair visitors can expect to see a wonderfully rich variety of beautiful antique, vintage and contemporary pieces including colourful ceramics, sparkling glass, glittering silver, fabulous fine art and exquisite jewellery.

Over 200 specialist dealers will be showcasing their wares, each item with its own history and story to tell. When something is passionately and intelligently designed, it invariably stands the test of time.

If you are looking for standout pieces for your own home, there is no better place to discover different genres and periods.

From traditional pieces of British and continental furniture to 20th century design classics, plus an abundance of Art Deco - reputedly the nation's favourite style – there are an array of items to delight and inspire.

The fair appeals to everyone from collectors to trade buyers and enthusiasts and all items for sale are stringently vetted by a team of experts for quality, date and condition, giving buyers assurance in their choice.

“Mix classic designs with retro shapes and vintage finds for a distinctive new look. Don't be scared to put the old with the new – it's far more exciting to make them balance each other,” is the advice from set designer and interior designer Caroline Cobbold.

“Most importantly, have fun buying pieces that you really love,” says Jess Lavers, another interior designer. “I always encourage clients to be bold with mixing up old treasured pieces that have significance and meaning with something new and sleek. The combination adds integrity and authenticity to any space. With prices starting from as little as £10 up to £100,000 there's every reason to experiment and try something new."

"It's lovely to welcome our specialist dealers to the Winter Fair," says Mary Claire Boyd, Fair Director.

"They have such passion and dedication for what they do. We give them the opportunity to share their love for antiques and collectables with our visitors, and then the visitors get to take home a wonderful array of beautiful items for their own homes! That gives me a great sense of satisfaction."

Celebrity speakers: Judith Miller, Marc Allum and Will Farmer, the BBC Antiques Roadshow experts will also be sharing their top tips on what's hot and getting started in collecting. For more information on the Antiques for Everyone Winter Fair visit www.antiquesforeveryone.co.uk
